

My name is McKay Ballard. I feel I bring a valuable skill set and perspective that is beneficial to the school. I have the unique experience of being a parent of a child attending John Hancock Charter School, as well as being a former student of the school.

As a student at JHCS, I enjoyed my educational experience, and now our family drives all the way from Orem to ensure my own child receives the same outstanding educational care I received.

I own a small business in Utah County, which has given me specific insights and practical knowledge. As a member of a local charter school board in Utah, which began in 2002, I believe I can provide relevant oversight to the operations of JHCS now and into the next generation.
